Campus Ministry

Each year over 50,000 students and visiting scholars come to NYC to study. Each semester we host English conversation groups and outreach events that draw hundreds of students on several major university campuses.

Those who express interest in spiritual things are invited to discovery Bible studies where they'll learn key Bible stories from Creation to Christ. Many of our students have come to faith and returned home with a desire to reach their family and friends and start churches.

During the 2016 Fall Semester more than 300 students participated in English conversation groups. Our team led 30 discovery Bible studies with 100+ participants, many of whom were reading the Bible for the first time.

EQUIP: 12 Month Training

EQUIP is an intensive, year-long training program designed to develop church planters in the context of practical ministry experience. The focus of Equip training is organic, reproducible church planting among unreached peoples.

Each trainee is mentored by an experienced church planter. Through study and application, you'll grow in your understanding of the gospel and develop a philosophy of evangelism, discipleship and church planting that is highly reproducible.

What you learn through Equip you can apply to your own neighborhood or wherever else God may lead you in the world.

By 2030 more than 75% of the world's population will live in major cities.

Thousands of internationals from least-evangelized countries come to New York City every year for business, education and political service. They represent the influential thinkers and policy makers of the world.

Being away from home, they are more receptive to the gospel message. Our strategy is to make disciples among these internationals and train them to start reproducible churches when they return to their home countries.

Diaspora Ministry in the US

United Nations

There are 25,000 workers in the United Nations, some from least-evangelized countries. Our team has a history of working with diplomats and bringing the gospel to them, their colleagues and their families.

Jisru

Jisru is the Arabic word for “bridge”. The Jisru ministry is specifically focused on building bridges for sharing the gospel with Muslim communities in New York City. This team’s focus is on abundant gospel sowing, incarnational evangelism, and starting discovery Bible studies in Muslims homes.

Discover Your Part

We are looking for people who share a vision for reaching internationals and immigrants, and training them in an organic understanding of church. Our team is growing, but we can hardly keep up with all the opportunities before us. Come to NYC - for a year or for a lifetime - and make an impact on the world one person at a time.

Returning Home with the Good News

*We first met LuShin* when he joined an English conversation group while he was a graduate student at New York University. He responded wholeheartedly to the truth of the gospel after joining a Bible study, and we rejoiced when he was baptized at a house church network retreat.*

As he was discipled, he was challenged to write down the names of 30 friends and family members who didn't know Christ, and prayerfully chose five of those people to share his faith with first.

His mother, living in a limited access country, received Christ because of his testimony. She shared her faith boldly with many family members and neighbors, and about ten others have chosen to follow Christ as well. LuShin returned home to baptize the new believers, and they are meeting together as a community of believers in a city with no other churches!
